ReStore celebrates 25 years

By Lori Larsen

Finding a way to keep tonnes of waste out of our landfills, all the while providing homes for people who may otherwise not be able to afford one is the success behind Habitat for Humanity ReStore in Canada and one of the reasons the organization is able to celebrate 25 years.

The first Habitat for Humanity's ReStore was opened in Winnipeg, Manitoba in 1991. Today the organization has almost 100 locations across Canada and almost 1,000 worldwide.

The Camrose ReStore opened in 2006 and has helped fund 30 Habitat for Humanity homes in the Camrose community.

Swiffer will be helping Habitat for Humanity celebrate the 25th anniversary by donating $1 for every ReStore transaction until Oct. 31.

"It's a great time to shop at Camrose ReStore," said Camrose ReStore manager Jesse Larson. "You can save on appliances, furniture and home products while contributing to a great cause. And now your money will go even farther."

Corinne Durieu, communications manager from Procter & Gamble Canada said, "Since 2013, P&G and Swiffer have been strong supporters of Habitat for Humanity Canada and we couldn't be happier to partner again to help celebrate this landmark anniversary for Habitat ReStore."
